History of Father's Day

A brief research of the history of Father's Day shows this year may well be its centenary!

A little searching found a recurring story about a woman in Washington, Sorora Dodd (nee Smart) who while celebrating Mother's Day, thought of honouring her father, a sole parent of 6. This may have been in 1908 or 1909. Possibly the first public Father's Day event was held at the YMCA in Spokane Washington in 1910.

Another story of the creation of Father's Day is as a memorial service held 5th July 1908 for victims of a mine explosion at Monongah, West Virginia, which killed 361 men, many of them fathers.

In Australia and NZ, Father's Day is celebrated on the first Sunday in September each year. However, the date of Father's Day varies wildly from country to country. In various cultures it has been adopted and tied to other significant dates or related celebrations. In Australia there are several Father of the Year awards linked to fund raising for deserving charities. You may notice these attracting media attention early September.

Father's Day this year is Sunday 7th September. Remember your Dad, visit him if you can.

Of course, we here at Blokey Stuff encourage you to give your Dad a gift for Father's Day. We are experienced at matching stuff to blokes, and would love to help your choose. Contact us early if you are after a particular item, so we can have enough for all.

Dr Who

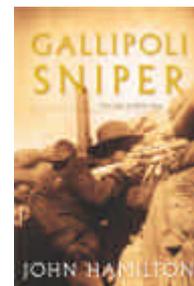

We are expecting a new batch of Doctor Who figurines and gadgets related to the current series (season 4). Supply of these is problematic so if interested let us know now and we will notify you when they arrive. We are happy to reserve items before they're all gone.

Military History

We sell a lot of Australian military history books. Ask us if you are after a particular title. Here are some recent releases.

Gallipoli Sniper by John Hamilton
The Anzac battlefield on Gallipoli was made for snipers. Anzac and Turkish positions often overlooked one another. The most successful sniper of the Gallipoli campaign was Billy Sing, with over 200 credited "kills". $34.99

Hard Jacka by Michael Lawriwsky

The Story of a Gallipoli Legend
Albert Jacka's acts of selfless heroism at Gallipoli would win him a VC, and his bravery in the battlefields of France would win him the unwavering loyalty of his mates. One of Australia's best soldiers. $24.95

The Forgotten Few by Doug Hurst
No 77 Squadron went to Korea in 1950, flying Mustang fighters as part of a UN force aiding South Korea fight invading communists from the north. Squadron pilots faced a one in four chance of death or capture for much of the war. Their deeds warranted lasting fame. $29.95

Pacific Fury by Peter Thompson

How Australia and her Allies Defeated the Japanese Scourge
Australian voices and action at the heart of the desperate struggle that was WWII in the Pacific. Based on exclusive interviews with eyewitnesses. $54.95
